To Whom It May Concern,

I unequivocally recommend Nguyen Dzoan for any senior infrastructure architecture role. He operates at the vanguard of technical design, and his presence immediately accelerates operational velocity.

He excels at leveraging AI to produce high-quality content at scale and developing technical architectures with significant business potential. He has a strong ability to connect technical innovation with practical business value.

I witnessed Nguyen's execution directly during the development of our enterprise cloud curriculum. He engineered and deployed a robust OpenCenter training lab environment that provided the critical infrastructural bedrock necessary for our entire educational platform to function.

Dzoan will immediately elevate your technical operations. Please contact me directly should you require further elaboration regarding his qualifications.

Sincerely,

Stephen Cooper
